CONTEMPORARY DECORATING

Anyone who knows me knows I love to decorate—with accessories old or new. The decorative skulls we find also give a sense of humor to my home decor. My heart started beating faster when I found a big skull candle with a snake on top. And I adore little dishes with skulls on them for setting out candy, as a place for odd smaller things to congregate, or for holding desk and home office necessities such as paperclips and rubber bands.

I even use my jewelry, scarves, purses, rings, bracelets, and necklaces as decorations, hung on peg racks, door handles, heart nails. I use them more when I see them every day.

A painted Mexican Day of the Dead refrigerator magnet has fabulous color. The paper garland and textile clutch wear Day of the Dead motifs as well.

Facing, turquoise beads with hanging skulls and leathers is a wrap necklace. This page, clockwise, Turquoise bracelet with black diamond skull. Plastic turquoise skulls. Ivory skull bracelet. Ebony wood bead are punctuated by an ivory skull with black eyes.
