LITTLE MISS BURNETT

A LITTLE PRINCESS

FRIENDSHIP
PRIMER

by JENNIFER ADAMS

art by
ALISON
OLIVER

An illustration of two trees with green foliage and brown trunks. In front of the trees is a black wrought-iron fence with decorative finials. The name 'SARA' is written in a green, serif font between the trees.

SARA

“There was something friendly about Sara, and people always felt it.”

CAPTAIN CREWE

“She and her father
were the dearest friends

EMILY

“Dolls ought to be intimate friends.”

ERMENGARDE

“It will seem as if we were more ‘best friends’
than ever.”

MELCHISEDEC

“I suppose you might make friends
with a rat in time.”

BECKY

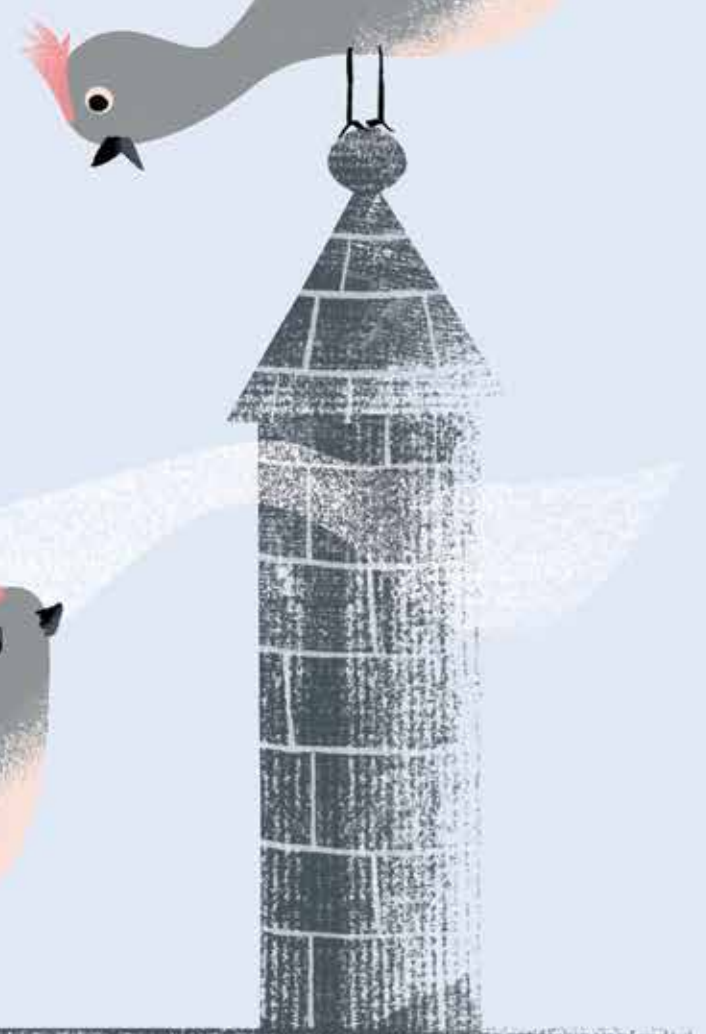

“If there was time
only for a few words, they were always friendly.”

A stylized illustration of a sparrow with a red crest and a grey body, flying with its wings spread over a long, flowing white ribbon that curves across the upper half of the page.

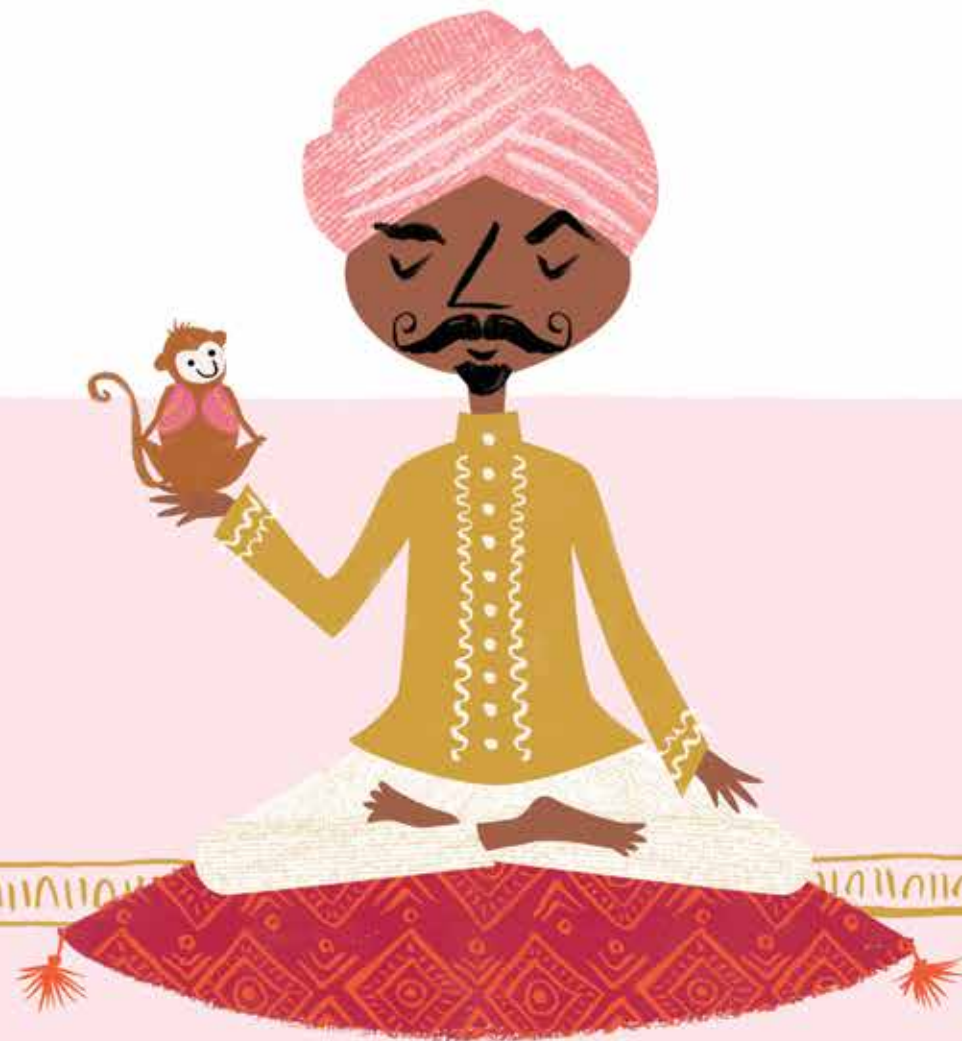

SPARROWS

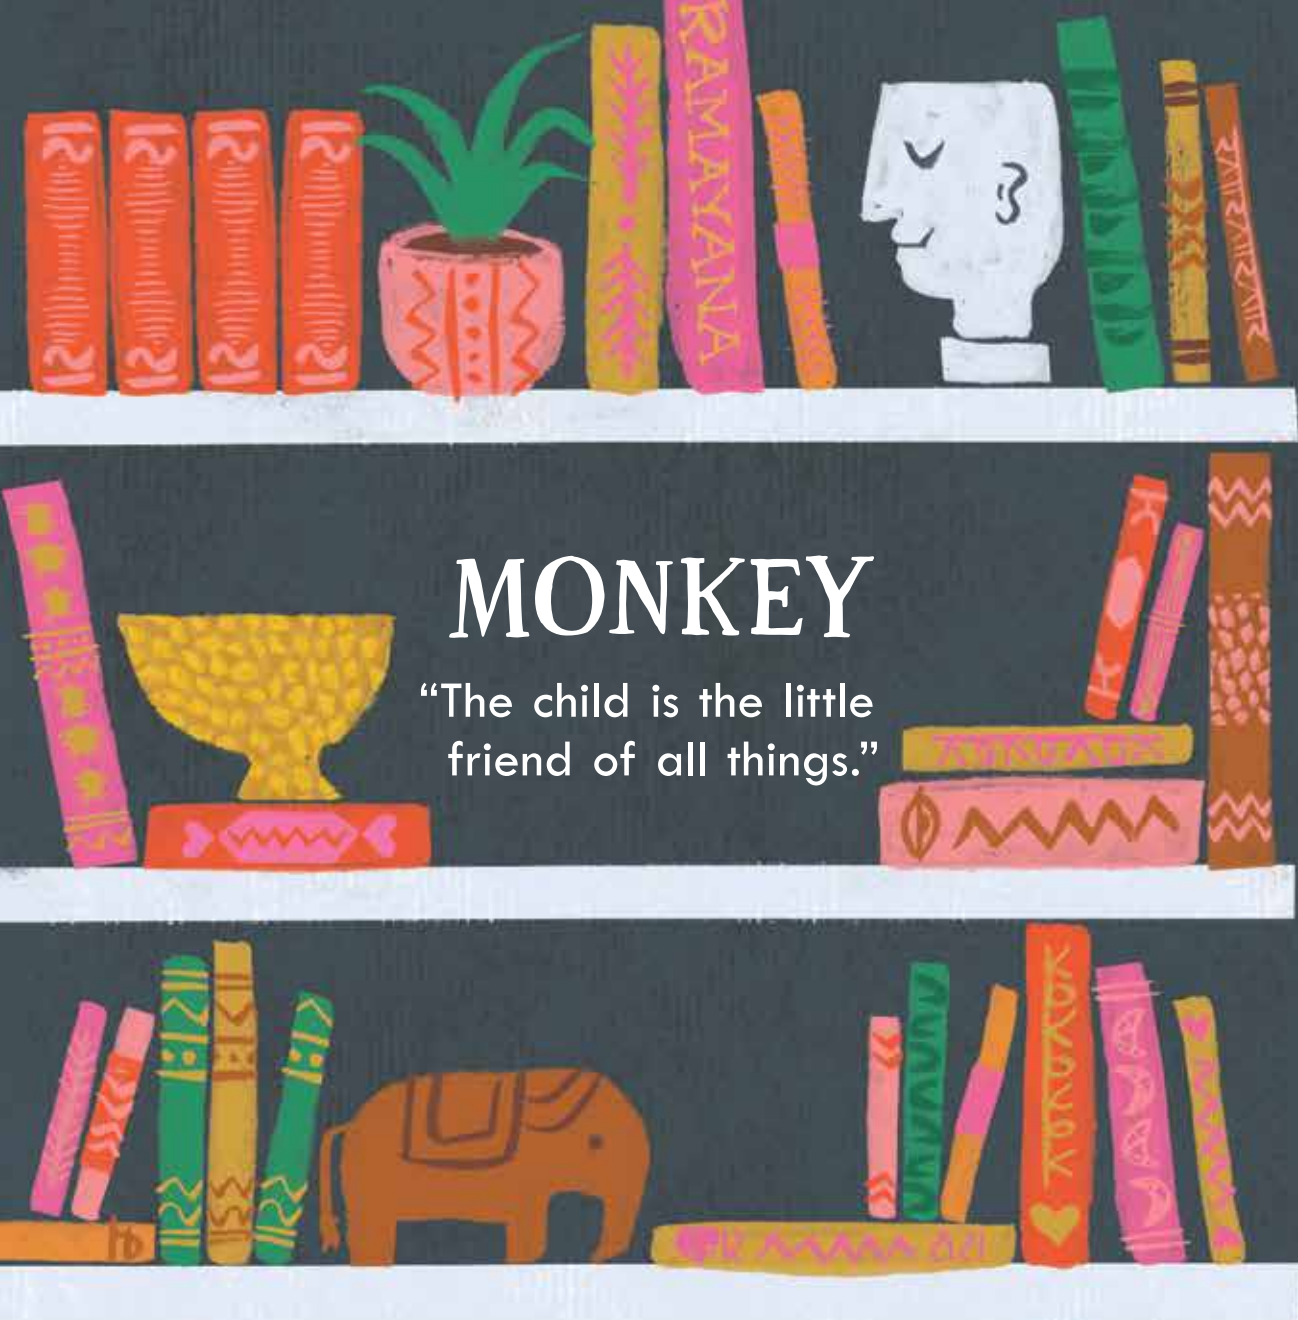

“She made such friends
with the sparrows.”

RAM DASS

“To the little girl
in the attic.
From a friend.”

MONKEY

"The child is the little friend of all things."

MR. CARRISFORD

“There never were such friends as these two became.”
