Springtime fairies play among flower petals and mushroom rings, summer sprites splash in pools and have fun in the sun, autumn fairies wear the colors of changing leaves, and winter fairies dance among sparkling snowflakes.

Whether it's the green of new grass, the yellow of a sunflower, the orange of autumn leaves or the crisp white of snow, Merrilee Liddiard's fairies love it all, and they're waiting to teach brainy babies all the colors of the garden.

She is known in the blog world for her love of kids design, toys, and DIY crafts via her popular blog mermagblog.com. She has authored and illustrated the book PLAYFUL: Fun Projects to Make With + For Kids and sells many of her illustrations and designs as prints and paper play things in her online shop.
