Grow Your Own Way

Helen Dardik

Jasmine climbs a trellis.
Periwinkle hugs the ground.

Catmint is tall and spiky.
Hydrangea's soft and round.

Poppies dot the desert,
while irises thrive in rain.

Lilies bloom and fade away,
but dahlias bud again.

You're a perfect flower, blooming exactly as you should,

adding your special color
to the garden of the world.
